March 12

Wellesley, Massachusetts

My own Mummy,
I have just come back from dinner with Hester Hugler. I think I have told you about her, she has a sister in our class too, and they live in East Hartford. They are both as nice as can be and I had real fun with them to-night. We decided that since we live so near each other that we simply are not going to loose track of each other when we leave college. I sat at the same table with my old friend Elizabeth Whelan, my sophomore roommate.

She brought back lots of memories, but the most important thing that seems to stand out as happening there on 32 Dover Street was your visit. Do you remember it? I don't believe I shall ever, ever forget it. we had such a lovely time you and I, and I was so proud to take you around.
Then after you'd gone, all the girls came and told me how dear my mother was - but your little girl knew it all the time before the
